

Cashel™ Utility Sinks Will Be Featured On July 30th Welcome Home™ Television Series

Havertown, Pennsylvania – July 7, 2016

Cashel, LLC, a Havertown, Pennsylvania based company, and maker of utility sinks, residential trash cans and recycling containers, will be featured on the July 30, 2016 airing of the Welcome Home™ television series on Time Warner Home Network. The Cashel utility segment will feature Tom Fitzgerald, Jr., Managing Partner of Cashel, LLC; speaking to Cashel's recent entry into the utility sink category.

The five-minute long segment will highlight some of Cashel's most popular utility sink styles including the Fitz™ and the Maddox™ designs. The Fitz utility sink is an eighteen inch, all in one utility sink kit made of extra strength structural polypropylene. It comes complete with everything for utility sink installation, plus built-in accessories such as the removable drying rack; easy access and built in hooks perfect for drying light materials. The popular Maddox design is a complete utility sink station, loaded with consumer feature upgrades such as a towel rack, convenient underneath shelf and removable drying rack.

"We are delighted to bring the story of Cashel utility sinks right into the homes of the consumers, builders, plumbers, retailers and distribution partners that want to know more about our products," said Tom Fitzgerald, Jr., Managing Partner, Cashel, LLC. "This segment on Welcome Home TV provides Cashel with a broad media platform to help us to continue to build our brand," said Fitzgerald, Jr.

According to the February 2016 Nielsen Rating Book, Welcome Home is a dominant DIY resource program with 28 million viewers in 25 states and over 700 cities across the U.S. on Time Warner Cable systems on the Time Warner Home Network.
